Maria Diaz - Teddy Bear Alphabet (cross stitch pattern chart)

Teddy Bear Alphabet

COUNTED CROSS STITCH CHART BY MARIA DIAZ

A cute alphabet for stitching a baby or toddler's name with teddy bear hugging each letters. The chart also includes a set of small letters and numbers so you can virtually stitch them in any combination. Below is the example of a child's room using the teddy-bear letters for the initials. In the other example, a boys name EDWARD is entirely composed with the letters.

These letters are ideal for any needlework project for a baby or a small child. You can stitch a birth announcement project, bibs, towels, cards, ...

You can also use waste a canvas to stitch on T-shirts or other children's clothes

The maximum height of a letter is 24 stitches. Take this number into account if you are stitching on a bath towel with a woven aida band, or any other ready-to-stitch item with a limited aida band.
